

CHARLES POSTLEWATE, Guitarist
1402 College Street, Arlington, TX 76010
charles@charlespostlewate.com
www.charlespostlewate.com
(817) 277-3394

April 14, 2005

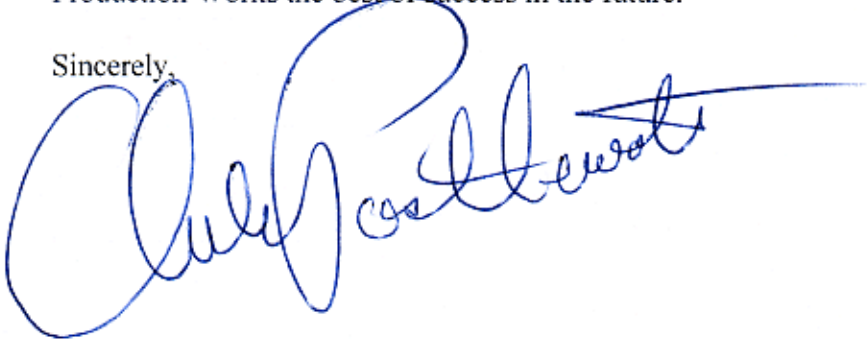

Mr. Ian Dalglish
Media Production Works
4340 North Central Freeway
Dallas, Texas 75206.

Dear Ian,

Enclosed is a copy of my new DVD, Five-Finger Technique for the Right Hand, in appreciation of your work as producer, director and editor. You did a great job and the many people who have seen it so far across the United States, Canada, Europe and Latin America are very impressed with both its content and presentation. You are a true professional with great knowledge of and experience in your field of video production and I am very lucky to have found you to complete this project with me. I was treated very well by you and your staff during this project and you made every effort to make sure that I was satisfied with each step of the process, including the filming, the editing and the dubbing for the Spanish version.

I also appreciate the prompt attention that you gave to my project and your expert advice as to how to plan and prepare the demonstration portions of this two-hour video on expanding classical guitar technique to include the previously unused little finger of the right hand. This video, with its worldwide distribution by Mel Bay Publications, will have important historic implications for the classical guitar and it would not have been made possible without your help. I recommend you highly for anyone seeking a video, TV or movie producer and director, and wish you and Media Production Works the best of success in the future.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "Charles Postlewate", with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.